Chinda Says California Anti-Alien Land Bill Is Aimed at Japanese

JAPAN TO FILE FORMAL PROTEST IN NEAR FUTURE

Wilson and Bryan Confer Over Case; California Senate Now Develops Opposition

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The frank declaration that the California anti-alien land bill is aimed directly at the Japanese, despite attempts to conceal the real purpose, was made today by Japanese Ambassador Chinda. In renewing his protest against the bill, a formal protest is to be filed later.

President Wilson does not believe he can prevent the passage of the bill. He conferred with Secretary of State Bryan again today. They decided to watch the situation closely, and will send a state department representative to Sacramento if necessary to gain information at first hand.

Later President Wilson arranged to confer with Secretaries Lane, Houston, Senators Works and Jones, and on the California situation. It is stated positively at the White House that no official declaration of the president's policy regarding the anti-alien land bill will be forthcoming at this time.

GOV. JOHNSON EXPECTS TO HEAR FROM PRESIDENT

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Governor Johnson told the United Press today that he had received no communication from President Wilson regarding the anti-alien land bill. He said he would not be surprised if he soon received a communication. He refused to state what action he will take if the Senate passes the bill.

HOUSE PASSES BILL 60 TO 15; SENATE FINDS OPPOSITION

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Following a passage late yesterday of the anti-alien land bill by the Assembly by a vote of 60 to 15, the Senate is doubtful today whether the Assembly bill or the Senate substitute shall first be considered. It is believed to be doubtful if either will be reached today.

Much Senate opposition is arising because of an attempt to avoid nominal discrimination against the Japanese by proposing an amendment to include all corporations the majority of whose stock is held by foreigners. The southern section of the state particularly opposes this, and a hard fight is threatened.

ILLINOIS WOULD ISSUE LICENSE TO NEWSPAPER MEN

CHICAGO, April 16.—Newspaper men generally are favorable to a bill Lieutenant Governor O'Hara will have drafted this week. It is said a license to be issued to reporters and others, after examination, will dignify their work, protect the public and publishers. Briefly a state board is to be created to pass upon the applications for licenses.

Every writer, in any capacity, working in the state must have a license. The applicant must be of good moral character and show that he has had an apprenticeship of four years on a reputable paper. The license will be revocable for black-mailing, violation of confidence, misrepresentation, falsification or criminal libel. Reporters working without license are subject to a fine of $20 to $100 a day and six months' imprisonment. The same penalty stands for the newspaper employing him.

The owners or lessees of newspapers or publications are not barred from writing for their own papers and are not required to take out licenses. Men now in the profession are to be granted licenses without examination.

STATE SENATOR CASSIDY LIES DANGEROUSLY ILL

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—State Senator J. J. Cassidy is lying unconscious and critically ill in the hospital, following a collapse on the Senate floor last night, suffering from brain affection. A priest was summoned at noon, and three doctors are constantly attending.

A Mile-Long Parade Today by the Circus

The circus is here. Those four words carry a lot of information. In addition it should be said that it is a good circus, with a lot of new features.

The mile-long parade on the streets today was witnessed by a multitude of people. The horses were a handsome lot. The animals are in fine trim and condition. A parade of that much fine horseflesh would be an immense attraction in itself. Camels and elephants took the eyes of the youngsters. Two tiny elephants drawing a carriage were a center of interest. Gravel Taken From That Property to Be Used in Building New Highways
Legislative Committee Opens Probe of Jordan's Office This Afternoon

The Board of Supervisors, for the County Highway Commission, has leased 7.70 acres of land in the Santiago creek at Villa Park as a source from which material to be used in building the county's good roads will be taken. The property is one of the best gravel beds in the county. The lease as placed on record yesterday is from Marshall Northcross of West Orange to the county of Orange for a period of five years. The rental to be paid by the county is $300 per year in semi-annual installments of $150 each.

Negotiations for this lease have been under way for the last two weeks. The gravel bed is located conveniently to the Tustin branch of the Southern Pacific.

The county may secure other leases on the Santiago creek or elsewhere in the county. It is proposed to establish a rock crusher for the cracking of rocks to be used in the good roads building.

RAILROADS APPEAL LEMON RATE CASE Take Long Contested Struggle Into U. S. Supreme Court For Final Decision

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—The fight of the California lemon growers for the rate of $1 per 100 pounds to points of eastern distribution and against the rate of $1.15 that is insisted on by the railroads must be fought over again in the court of last resort. According to information received yesterday by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and the Citrus Protective League from their attorneys in Chicago the railroads have appealed the case to the United States supreme court.

The action of the railroads in appealing the case is the result of the action of the commerce court when it dismissed the appeal of the railroads from the ruling of the interstate commerce commission a month ago.

The lemon rate case has attracted wide attention and has been pending in different forms since November 21, 1909, when the suit was originally filed before the interstate commerce commission by the Citrus Protective League. A vast amount of testimony was introduced at the many hearings.

DIGGS REFUSED TO PLEAD TO WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Utterly refusing to speak when Federal Commissioner Krull asked him if he desired to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge of violating the Mann white slave law, Maury I. Diggs, former state architect, created a mild sensation in the federal court room today. Diggs is charged jointly with Drew Caminetti, son of State Senator Caminetti, of enticing two Sacramento girls to Reno for immoral purposes. He waived preliminary examination and filed $5000 bond to guarantee his appearance on Monday for arraignment.

SCHEDULES MAINTAINED BY DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The house Democratic caucus today discussed the wool, cotton and flax schedules of the proposed tariff bill. Thus far assaults of protectionists on the bill have uniformly failed. The principal debate was on free wool. It was led by Ashbrook of Ohio. The western representatives demanded 15 per cent duty on raw wool. Other fights are expected on carpets, clothing and dress goods.

The house ways and means committee is considering the manufacturers' appeal to make the bill effective on January 1, instead of immediately when signed. The Goulden amendment increasing the tariff on gloves from thirty-five to fifty per cent was defeated. Duties on cotton gloves and stockings was retained. The caucus refusing to put stockings on the free list.

JAIL-BREAKING BIGAMIST CAUGHT BY GARDEN GROVE OFFICER AT OCEAN PARK

Marsh Tunneled Way Out of Jail and Took 300-Mile Trip in Rowboat in Escape—One of His Wives Is at Garden Grove

Bert H. Marsh, who figured in a sensational jail-break at Concomely, Wash., a year ago the day he was to be taken to the penitentiary at Walla Walla, was placed in the county jail here last night by Deputy Sheriff J. J. Turner of Garden Grove. Marsh will be taken back to Washington to serve his sentence, which was from two to five years.

Marsh has a wife and three children at Garden Grove, and another wife in Idaho. He is a lanky man of 25 years, at one time an ambitious prize-fighter.

Marsh has been known at Garden Grove for two or three years. His father lives at Oceanside. After leaving his wife at Garden Grove, a little over a year ago Marsh was arrested in Concomely, Wash., on a charge of bigamy. He pleaded guilty to the charge and received an indeterminate sentence of from two to five years in Walla Walla penitentiary.

In the jail with Marsh was another prisoner also under sentence to the penitentiary. They secured the head of an ax and with it pried a hole in the jail floor, which was made of 2 by 4 inch lumber set edgewise. They then dug a tunnel eighteen feet in length. They had expected to wait until night

ANTI-ALIEN LAND BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Vote Was 60 to 15; Bill Is Substitute For Various Others; Debate Was Spirited

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—The anti-alien land bill, the object of which is to make impossible the ownership of land in California by aliens or by those who have not declared their intention of becoming citizens of the United States was passed by the Assembly yesterday afternoon by a vote of 60 to 15.

Four attempts were made to amend the bill and all were voted down after spirited debate. Of the fifteen votes cast against the bill, on final passage, nine were by members of the Los Angeles delegation, as follows: Benedict, Emmons, Fish, Gates, Johnstone, Kuck, Roberts, Strine and Woodley.

The others who voted against the bill were Bowman of Santa Cruz, Cary of Fresno, Ellis of Riverside, Guberson of Corcoran, Nelson of Eureka, and Schmitt of San Francisco.

Arizona Has Similar Law

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 15.—That Arizona has a law forgotten since its enactment a year ago—prohibiting persons not eligible to American citizenship from acquiring title to real property in this state was brought to the attention of federal officials here today.

The government authorities said they would call the measure, enforcement of which never has been attempted, to the attention of the state department.

Under the provisions of the law all aliens holding land at the time of its enactment must surrender title within

TAXPAYER, PAY YOUR TAXES NOW AND SAVE TROUBLE FOR YOURSELF AND COLLECTOR

At 6 o'clock on Monday, April 28, the second installment of county taxes goes delinquent, and a penalty will have to be added by County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb. Just at present taxes are coming in slowly, far too slowly to suit the tax collector's office, for few payments now means a rush in the last few days before the taxes go delinquent.

It would be well for all taxpayers to heed the often given advice, that the easiest way to pay taxes is to write a check, enclose it with the tax bill and mail it to the tax collector. The tax bills were mailed out last fall, and property owners who did not pay all their taxes in one payment should still have those bills.

Owing to the enormous increase of business caused by the rapid growth of our great big little county, the tax collector's office is "up against it" in some ways. The cutting of larger holdings into small acreage

POPE PIUS IS REPORTED DYING

Members of Family Told to Be In Readiness For Final Summons to Bedside

FINAL UNCTION MAY BE GIVEN AT ANY MOMENT

Pontiff Bids Farewell to Servants of Vatican Household With Apostolic Blessing

ROME, April 16.—At 6 o'clock members of Pope Pius' family were requested to help themselves in readiness for a final summons to the Pope's bedside. Dr. Amici told them the Pontiff could not survive the night. Marchisava refused to abandon hope.

Later reports from the Vatican were to the effect that the Pope is dying, and according to the Pontiff's brothers and sisters, and church dignitaries, his death is but a matter of hours. A Vatican attache in a position to know the facts gave this information to Henry Wood, the United Press Rome correspondent. When asked if there was any possibility that the Pope might rally, Dr. Amici shook his head, refusing to comment.

All Rome has practically abandoned hope, and the populace is quietly awaiting the news of the Pope's death, which it expects to hear before morning.

ENCOURAGING BULLETIN ISSUED THIS FORENOON

ROME, April 16.—Dr. Amici was hastily summoned from luncheon today to attend the Pope, whom he found with increased fever. He regards the Pontiff's condition as critical. Cardinals Merry del Val and Bressan received the German pilgrims today in the place of the Pontiff. The following bulletin was issued this morning: "The Pope slept tranquilly several hours last night. His temperature is one hundred and eight-tenths. His heart condition is good."

Despite the optimistic bulletin the Pope is reported to believe his end is near. He insisted on bidding farewell to his personal attendants. The cooks, groomers, gardeners and others dropped on their knees at his bedside as each received the apostolic blessing.

Once during the night the Pope's temperature reached 103, with a weak pulse. Drs. Amici, Marchisava and Cagiat were at the Pope's bedside throughout the night. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli has been warned to be ready to proceed to the Papal chamber at any hour to administer the last sacrament. The patient's bronchial trouble has returned, and a large area of congestion is reported in the left lung.

Angelo Sarito, the Pope's brother, who arrived from Grazia last evening, created a scene last night when he demanded admission to the papal chamber. Angelo begged with tears in his eyes to be allowed to see his brother and obtain his forgiveness for trouble which he said he had caused the Pope in the last few years. It was only after he had been assured by Drs. Amici and Cagiat and several prelates that the Pope would be able to recognize and speak to him in the morning that Angelo agreed to leave.

TO PUT BRIDGE OVER ANAHEIM BAY

County Surveyor Instructed to Submit Plans to U. S. Engineer's Office

Yesterday afternoon the Board of Supervisors instructed County Surveyor McBride to prepare plans and specifications for a bridge to be constructed across the mouth of Anaheim Bay for the road to connect Bay City and Sunset Beach, and to submit those plans to the office of the United States engineer at Los Angeles. Since the proposed bridge will be across the neck of a navigable bay it cannot be built unless the federal authorities give permission. It is believed that there will be no objection from that source since the bay is used for pleasure craft only and there is already a bridge, the P. E. across it.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

All varieties of hay have been pretty steady of late owing to lighter receipts. The demand is not as heavy as usual, and this has prevented an advance. The new crop of alfalfa will soon be available in large quantities and this should contribute toward making the market easy.

The Mexican vegetables received Monday have met with a good demand. The bell peppers are practically cleaned up. There are still some chile peppers at about 25 to 30 cents a pound. The tomatoes brought $1.50 to $1.65 a box, and will have to be disposed of quickly as many of them are over-ripe. Egg plant brings around 25 cents a pound. It stood the trip by sea well. Several carloads of northern cabbage were received and were quoted at about 1 to 1 1/2 cents a pound. The supply of local cabbage was quite limited and sold around 1 1/2 cents a pound. The market was over-loaded with asparagus, which was quoted as low as 2 1/2 cents to 3 cents a pound. Several good shipments have come in and the demand is not very heavy. Some fancy green asparagus was received from Imperial Valley and brought about 9 cents a pound, depending on quality. The market is well supplied with the green varieties. Cauliflower seems rather scarce. There was a considerable quantity of inferior lettuce on the market. Bermuda onions are somewhat steadier but as several good shipments are expected today, it is likely that the market will again display an easier tone. A consignment from Texas may arrive. Artichokes are plentiful. The north-

Members of Realty Board of Santa Ana Take Action on Important Matter

The Realty Board of Santa Ana held a well attended and enthusiastic meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. Nearly all of the real estate firms of the city were represented, there being twenty-five at the meeting.
The real estate men have long felt the need of organization and a more concerted action, for the purpose of pushing the general interest of the county and maintaining better security from unfair and dishonest dealings. One of the most important matters brought up and decided on at this and previous meetings was that all members shall use one form of listing contract and require all parties listing property to sign it. This is a very simple contract, and it secures the agent in his commission. The board feels that no honest person could reasonably refuse to sign the contract. The board also expects to work in harmony with the other organizations of the city for mutual improvements and increased prosperity, believing that "a long pull and a strong pull, and a pull all together," will do much to BOOST Orange county and Santa Ana, to the benefit of all.

SCHOOL MEET IS TOMORROW

Track and Field Events to Be Held for Triangle League Banner

"Which of the five grammar schools in Santa Ana will win the Triangle League banner tomorrow?" This is the important question in the minds of many boys and girls today. The banner has been on exhibition for the past week in the window of Mr. Thacker's store on West Fourth street and has aroused considerable interest among the pupils.
The banner will be awarded to the school making the most points tomorrow in the track meet, which will be held on the Lincoln athletic field beginning at 1:30 p. m. A large number of boys have already entered and it is expected that a number more will enter at the last minute.
The events are the 50 yard dash, the 75 yard, the 100 yard, standing broad jump, running broad, baseball throw, high jump, and shot-put. The contestants are divided into five classes according to weight, and boys compete only against those weighing within a few pounds of their own weight.
The public is invited to see this track meet, the admission fee being 15 cents for pupils and 25 cents for adults.

Those who have not yet handed in their names are asked to be at the grounds by 1 o'clock. The Santa Ana Hardware company will lend their scales for the afternoon so that all contestants who have not yet been officially weighed will be weighed at the grounds. One hundred and thirty-five ribbons are to be given to the event winners.

The schools represented are Roosevelt, Lincoln, McKinley, Jefferson, and Spurgeon.
The contestants already entered in the 60 to 80 pound class are Cecil Butcher, Trinidad Jimenez, Donald Jerome, Malcolm Finley, Harold Kellogg, Frank Kellogg, Dana Lamb, Joseph Provost, Claude Carl, Sherman Brunton, Ernest Hartman, Walter Stacey, Edgar Pearson, Robert Boyd, George Gerwing, Donald Caul, Malcolm Kroll, Chester Stafford, Joe East, in, George Wilson.

In the 81 and 95 pound class those entered are Carl Ehrhardt, Malcolm Severance, Homer Anderson, Horace Strong, Ernest Hafner, Vincent Nieblaz, Bennie Weaver, Cecil Moon, Hilary Terrill, Gilbert Barrios, Lyle Mitchell, Louis Martin, Robert Gerwing, Ernest Bissett.
Those entered in the other classes are Dis Burrell, Joe Placentia, Albert Hafner, Otis Monroe, Forest Myers, Taylor Vanderlip, Eugene Trago, George Despart and Paul Plavan.

ALLURING BUT DECEPTIVE

Here is a sample of the information, or misinformation, that is coming out of Washington these days. It makes good reading for the people of California who have lemons and oranges and other products that need a degree of protection:

The total value of the consumption in the United States of all the articles contained in the tariff act is estimated to amount during a year to about $21,500,000,000, of which $20,500,000,000 are dutiable. The revenue derived from the portion of this imported in 1911 was $399,581,944, while the amount of the protection involved because of increased prices on total consumption from tariff duties was $1,500,000,000. This makes the total tax to consumers because of the tariff amount to $2,225,000,000 a year. The estimated protection in the cotton, wool, metal, chemical and sugar schedules alone aggregate $1,000,000,000.

"The revision proposed by the Democrats of congress," said a member of the ways and means committee, "would save the consumers in prices about $745,000,000 on wool, cotton, metals, chemicals and sugar in a year. This would mean a saving of $8 to every person in the United States."

Commenting on these figures, the Whittier News says:

"Whether these figures are lying or alluring it is vain at this time to say. Assuming it to be true, however, that as compared to the present outlay by the ultimate consumer, about $745,000,000 will be saved to him, does he get it or is it merely saved? Who lets go of that $745,000,000? Can we assume that this amount is to be taken entirely from the captains of industry, the owners of stocks and bonds? Even the income tax, which affects only those with incomes of more than $4,000 per year will bring in but a paltry $100,000,000. Who comes across with the other $645,000,000? How much of this sum must labor surrender? Labor is somewhat of a producer as well as a consumer.

"Is it possible to take $745,000,000 out of the channels of trade by act of congress in such a manner as 'will not injure or destroy legitimate industry,' as the Democrats promised in their Baltimore platform? In the readjustment of prices and wages made necessary by a tariff bill that undertakes to save this $745,000,000 is it possible to leave unimpaired the purchasing power of the money left in the hands of the consumers? Eight dollars is to be saved yearly to every person, but unless earnings remain the same, it will not do the laborer a great deal of good to know that lower prices are in vogue on wool, cotton, metals, chemicals, lemons and sugar.

"The where-withal to buy is the big thing, and no provision is made in this Wilson tariff bill to hold the earning power of labor to its present high standard. These questions are receiving some consideration over the country these days, and it is to be hoped that Democratic patronage in the hands of President Wilson will not frighten the members of both houses into mild submission."

THE MOST VITAL PROBLEM
Dr. John C. Spencer, a leading physician of San Francisco, spoke at the Progressive luncheon Monday in pronounced approval of the Redlight Abatement and Injunction law. He gave some very impressive statistics to show how civilization is menaced, and made powerful appeal for support of the drastic measure solely on the ground that something must be done to save mankind from the blight that now threatens it.

Dr. Spencer spoke from his own experience of many years of medical practice and from that of others, the facts of which he had with much labor gathered in his earnest effort to bring about a realization on the part of the public of the seriousness of the situation.

"It may be stated without reservation," said the doctor, "that the most vital problem in our general scheme of national conservation today is the social evil and the diseases which result from it. All other preventable causes of national decay are of secondary importance as compared with this.

"From time immemorial it has been customary to ignore all public reference to these diseases, either as affecting the individual, the community or the nation. He who runs may read that the time is now here when silence will no longer be tolerated. The people of the United States and of all other civilized countries, irrespective of station or sex, are ready, nay eager to know the nature of these diseases and what their presence means to the health of the individual and of the nation."

Dr. Spencer said that there could be no question but that the amount of prostitution had a definite relation to the amount of disease. Even if the first were only curbed, there would follow a definite curbing of the other. He spoke at length of the economic harm from various standpoints, a principal phase of which was the incapacitating of victims of the diseases from realizing their full economic efficiency. The total results in the United States, measured in dollars, ran to the stupendous figure of three billion dollars annually. The total number of deaths in the United States annually from these diseases is 100,000.

THE CIRCUS

[Percy Shaw, in Los Angeles Tribune.]
Yes, the circus is here—
Ha, ha, and ho, ho;
We're old and we're failing.
Of course we can't go;
We're spoiled and we're cranky;
We've been there before,
And we shake our poor heads—
"Nay, nay, nevermore."

And then there comes marching—
"Twas long, long ago—
The bands and the cages,
The Queen all aglow;
The clowns and the tigers,
While piercingly clear,
The cellophane music
Brings joy to the ear.

We see ourselves standing,
Our souls in our eyes,
While the circus parade
Fades out of our skies.
But somehow, oh, somehow,
We're there with the first,
Drinking pink lemonade,
That nectar for thirst.

Yes, the circus is here,
Ha, ha, and ho, ho;
Who says we are failing?
Of course we shall go.
Away with forebodings;
We're searchers for truth—
Let's off to inhale the
Blair of youth.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—If any blame visitor to the nation's capital finds it impossible to become duly thrilled with that feeling that makes people hum "The Star Spangled Banner," standing, all he has to do is to go to see one of the cavalry drills at Fort Myer.

About half an hour of that glittering, jangling, hoof-beating dare-devilism is guaranteed to instill the feeling into the coldest human iceberg. It is the lure of soldiery, that swings, and climbs, and stands, and jumps, in a mad vortex of horses.

The drills are weekly events and are always popular as "society" affairs, although the neck-risking feats are done by the enlisted men who appear on the program merely as "company second" under command of Lieutenant or Captain Somebody. The riding hall is about 500 feet long and 200 feet wide, and each drill is generally participated in by about fifty men.

A few days ago President Wilson saw his first drill at the fort, and a program of unusual merit was given. That means everybody took an extra chance. Cossack riding was the central number on this program, in which twenty-five young troopers on saddleless horses did almost impossible feats, standing on running horses which leaped five-foot hurdles and performing other feats that were as much circus stunts as cavalry exploits. The troopers made their charges jump over a mess table, set with china and surrounded by soldiers apparently at dinner. Others made their mounts leap over a handkerchief stretched between two men. This was to show the accuracy of the rider's guiding and the perfect obedience of the horses to the rein. Other less difficult but more beautiful maneuvers were the tandem events, where soldiers standing on one horse and driving another would execute similar feats.

But the artillery drills are always the most spectacular. Thundering around the great hall in a storm of flying tankard, the heavy wagons rumbled between narrow spaces marked by stakes, cut figures, cross in front of each other at a wild gallop, horses, wagons and drivers swaying madly at each precarious turn.

The things the madcap cavalry do would make a circus performer turn an envious emerald. They do it not only when elegantly dressed men and

Now has Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce shown up a little side graft that manufacturers have been paying to attorneys and special agents. The "showing-up" is nothing but a bulletin telling what the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce has been doing in keeping up with tariffs and import conditions, but it demonstrates that manufacturers have long been paying for just this information, though the bureau supplies it gratis. When manufacturers write to some outside agency for the information they want, the agent merely goes to the bureau and secures it, charging his client a comfortable fee.

NEWSY NEWS FROM NEW YORK

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, April 16.—Scientific farming in the heart of Manhattan Island to produce a rejuvenated Central Park has resulted in another triumph for "intensive" and "crop rotation" methods. Park Commissioner Stover and his landscape artist C. D. Lay, toured the park today, noting the tender shoots of new grass and the budding shrubbery with self-congratulatory appreciation.

"We were told it would take millions to rehabilitate the Park," said the Commissioner. "More than two-thirds of the lawn surface already has been successfully treated and the cost of treating the whole extent of greenward will not exceed $150,000."

"The method we used was nothing more than that in use by scientific farmers—the rotation of crops. For the first time since the park was laid out a plough was run through the lawns two years ago and instead of grass, rye was planted. We began with winter rye and put up a fence to keep out trespassers. We worked only part of the park at a time and kept those plots closed. Last summer we applied generous quantities of fertilizer. The results this spring are wonderful. It looks as though we would be able to throw all the rejuvenated lawns open again this summer, the new grass is coming up so strongly."

Intensive farming methods were also applied to the flower beds during the last two seasons. Changing the character of the flowers and refertilizing the soil in the beds as well as around the trees has produced a marvelous luxuriance of growth, which grows daily more apparent as spring wears on towards the days of full bloom.

Farmers from surrounding counties have manifested great interest in the operations in Central Park, and Commissioner Stover's work has presented the strange spectacle of farmers coming to learn wisdom about their profession in the heart of a great city.

So much discussion was aroused last summer by the park commission's employment of big stringed orchestras for the open air evening concerts instead of the brass bands as of old that Commissioner Stover has decided to begin the summer concert season with a battle of brass against string. In

Wonderful Cure

After Years of Suffering and Treatment With No Relief, Cured in Three Months by Vito Nuevo Treatment at Long Beach.

After suffering for a number of years with rheumatism in my feet, and trying many doctors and remedies without any relief, I finally consulted with Vito Nuevo Medical Co., and was induced to take up a three months' treatment. After a time my general health began to improve and gradually my feet became less painful, my appetite got better, I slept better nights and now at the present time I can walk without any discomfort and without the aid of any support, and feel better than I have for the past ten years.

I gladly recommend this splendid cure for rheumatism to all who suffer from that dreadful disease and feel grateful to the management of the Vito Nuevo Medical Co. for the courteous treatment received from them.

Yours truly,

MRS. S. E. REYNOLDS.

PAST MATRONS MET

Eastern Star Society Enjoyed Delightful Afternoon at Home of Mrs. Bowes

The ladies of the Past Matrons' Association, O. E. S., were delighted yesterday afternoon to greet Mrs. C. F. McKelvey and Miss Mary Cotter of Los Angeles at the meeting of the society held at the attractive home of Mrs. Maude E. Bowes on North Main street. Both of these ladies are members of the association and each has served as worthy matron of Hermosa chapter.

Mrs. Bowes used a profusion of flowers in house adornment, nasturtiums showing in rich colors in both upper and lower halls, pink roses and a jardiniere of purple flowers from Los Angeles by Mrs. McKelvey decking the parlor, while the dining room and tables were in white, lovely roses being employed.

The social hour following the business session was particularly enjoyed, needlework and conversation engaging the attention of the ladies. Mrs. Dr. Robertson was a guest of the chapter during this hour and later assisted Mrs. Bowes in serving the delicious three-course collation. The dining table and smaller tables also were used for the serving of the refreshments.

Those present besides the hostess and Mrs. Robertson were Mesdames McKelvey, Reeves, Robbins, Tubbs, Dickinson, Medlock, Evans, Barker, U. D. Palmer, Palmer, Reinhaus, Crawford, Peek, Winbigger, Tope, Clayton, Miss Cotter, Miss Reinhaus.

The bishop's well known interest and ability manifest in good works and Los Angeles and in the diocese at large make his visitation not only of interest to the Church of the Messiah but of interest to Santa Ana.

The service will be at 11 a. m. The offering, it is hoped, will be generous. It is for the Bishop's Missionary fund. The improvements in the church of the church are nearly complete and will be ready for next Sunday.

There will be an important choir rehearsal Thursday (tomorrow) night, at 7:30 in the church.

The pupils of the State Normal School at Los Angeles have issued the first number of a newspaper, "Training School News," which they themselves write and publish. The editor-in-chief is Miss Louise Chandler, and Roscoe Joiner is business manager.

Ebell Literature Section

At the meeting of this interesting section of the Ebell Society, held at Mrs. A. J. Lawton's yesterday, papers on William Dean Howells and S. Weir Mitchell were read by Mrs. Lawton and Miss Beulah May, respectively. Following these current events were given and a discussion of the papers took place.

In addition to Mrs. Lawton's own paper, she read an article on Howells from the February "Forum." Miss May's paper on Dr. Mitchell was particularly interesting to the many members of the club who are well acquainted in Philadelphia. Miss May has heard Dr. Mitchell lecture on Francois Villon in the Quaker City, and his spirited rendering of the French poet's ballads is not soon to be forgotten.

A guest of the club was Mrs. Dearing of Orange, who in her girlhood attended the seminary in which Professor Stowe, the husband of Harriet Beecher Stowe, was teacher, and was often a guest at the famous novelist's home.

Class Social

At the First Methodist church yesterday evening was held another of the enjoyable socials of the Young Married People's Class of that church.

About fifty were present and after the usual devotional and business meeting a program of music was listened to with great pleasure. This program consisted of piano solos, vocal solos and several selections by the orchestra.

Games were then played. Hats were trimmed by the men, Mr. Buchheim winning the prize, a large bouquet of white lilies.

The decorations were white lilies and sweet peas, with plate bouquets of pansies. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and fruitade were served by the entertaining committee, Mrs. McArthur, Mrs. Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. Finin.

Birthday Dinner

In honor of Mr. Moorhead's birthday occurring yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moorhead gave a small but most enjoyable dinner party last evening, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stearns.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock, the table and dining room being beautified with roses, the same lovely flowers being used also throughout the house. The five-course dinner was remarkably good, Mrs. Moorhead treating her guests to some especially tasty dishes of German cookery.

The evening following was socially spent, Mr. Moorhead being the recipient of remembrances from the guests.

MAY 1ST AND 2ND DATES SET FOR ELKS MINSTRELS

Enthusiastic Rehearsal Held Last Night With Good Attendance; Big Success Promised

Director Wilson fed the Santa Ana herd some real classy minstrel alfalfa last night, and the bucks ate it like a high school girl eats chocolate creams.

There were about forty in the bunch, which number they expect to swell, to sixty by the time the show is pulled off.

If any timid ladies passing the Elks Hall during the next two weeks hear unseemly sounds resembling a planing mill, the filing of a saw, or the starting of a motorcycle, they should not be alarmed. It will only be some Elks just learning to bel-low.

POWER BONDS GO DOWN TO DEFEAT

Los Angeles Cast 52,000 Votes;
Harbor Bonds Carry; Other
Projects Are Beaten

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Los Angeles yesterday defeated the power bond proposal of $6,500,000 by 5000 votes less than the necessary two-thirds to carry, although receiving 10,000 majority of the 51,000 votes cast.

The Graham "high line" scheme was disapproved by a 2 to 1 vote; the San Fernando Valley distributing system proposal was also rejected by a majority vote. The majorities against the new city hall, the municipal railway to the harbor and the purchase of the normal school site were large.

The harbor improvement bonds were carried by over 40,000 majority and the aqueduct city trunk line proposal was carried by practically the same majority, the two bond issues endorsed aggregating $4,000,000.

It is estimated that the total vote cast in the election was 52,000.

The failure to carry the power bonds leaves the $3,500,000 incomplete power plant useless. About $750,000 will be needed to finish this and build a transmission line to the city.

President John B. Miller of the Southern California Edison Company proposes that the power companies advance this sum, complete the plant and buy power from the city, the $750,000 to be used up in "juice" and the companies thereafter to continue to buy power permanently.

Several members of the city administration insist that the only solution of the power question will be supplied in an affirmative vote upon a power bond issue, and advise the earliest possible calling of another election on the power bonds alone. There appears to be a strong sentiment among the councilmen and city officers against selling the companies the power.

The fight centered upon No. 1, the power bond proposal, the Edison Company leading the fight against the bonds.

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

Humboldt County, the least developed in California, presents splendid opportunities to investors and homeseekers. Men and money are needed for dairying, small fruit growing, truck farming, general farming and apple raising. A country of wonderful resources and ideal climate into which the first railroad is now building. All inquiries promptly answered by the Humboldt Promotion and Development Committee, Eureka, Cal.

EXCITEMENT BUT NO REAL DAMAGE DONE

ORANGE, April 16.—Last night Orange had all the excitement of a fire alarm without any fire except that from a gas torch. About 9 o'clock the electric lights went out. A mechanic at work in the Orange County Garage lighted a gas torch and went on with his work. Someone passing along the street saw the flame and yelled fire. A crowd jammed against the door, and were considering smashing it down when someone produced a key. The crowd swarmed in to extinguish the flames. All they found was a hard-working mechanic under a car plying his trade by the light of a gas torch.

SILK WORMS AT WORK IN REINHAUS WINDOW

An unusually interesting sight is to be observed in the show window of Reinhaus Bros. store on West Fourth street, where a collection of silk worms are busily engaged in spinning the fabric for which they are famous.

The exhibit has been placed in the window as supplemental to the fine display of silk dress goods.

Silk was used on dress material for both sexes in China as long ago as 2700 years before the Christian Era. The worms are hatched in the spring and their chief food, almost their only food, are the leaves of the mulberry tree. They will live on osage orange leaves, but do not do nearly as well as when they get mulberry leaves. The worm does not have a prolonged existence, its span of life not exceeding forty days. It spins its cocoon, occupying about five days in that operation, and when the cocoon is completed, the worm becomes a pupa. About fifteen days thereafter the silk moth is developed. It emerges from the cocoon, deposits its eggs on the underneath side of a mulberry leaf, then dies. This, in brief, would be the "life and times of a silk-worm," and the whole operation may now be watched from day to day in the Reinhaus store.

The worms will be kept in the Reinhaus window about ten days, when it is expected all the cocoons will be completed and in readiness to send to the manufacturer.

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT

No Headache, Sour Stomach,
Biliousness or Constipation
By Morning

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.—Advertisement.

THREW HOT TEA IN GRANDMOTHER'S FACE

Albert Cummings is in jail to cool off and learn that the earth is not ruled by him. He became partially convinced of that this morning when he put up a fight against Officer Lacy. Cummings is a husky 19-year-old youth. His grandmother complained that he had struck her and had thrown hot tea in her face. When Lacy investigated the case, Cummings arrogantly declared Lacy could not take him to jail, and the first thing Lacy knew Cummings was punching at him. He failed to land before Lacy had a grip on the boy's hair, and that took a lot of light out of the terrible Cummings.

AMUSEMENTS

Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys comes to the Grand Opera House Tuesday, April 29, in a new musical comedy, offering "Over the River," which is undoubtedly one of the biggest and most pretentious musical offerings of the year.

"Over the River" derives its title from the fact that convicts sent to the penitentiary in New York are said to be doing time "over the river." Mr. Foy plays the role of Madison Parke, a wealthy man about town who has had an escapade and is sent to the house of corrections for thirty days. His wife, unable to understand his absence, goes in for charity work and one day with other friends arrives at the penitentiary. How her husband escapes detection, and afterwards explains his absence furnishes the rich comedy material for three acts.

The funniest scene is the one showing the interior of the prison with Eddie Foy doing the lockstep. His red hair has been clipped close and a suit of prison stripes envelope his heroic figure. An unthinking man may wonder what becomes of the chorus and ballet during this act, but have no fear. The musical comedy author always finds a way. Beautiful Salvation Army lassies who can sing and dance bring flowers to cheer up the prisoner, and there you are. Eddie Foy in stripes with his mournful prison face turned into smiles as the little girls decorate him with flowers and kisses, forms a picture to convulse any audience with laughter.

POLES PLANNING TO WIN LIBERTY

Have War Fund of $1,000,000;
50 Polish Families in Angel
City Aid In Cause

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—A movement to regain the territory now held by Russia, Austria and Germany, which at one time comprised Poland, by the Polish people, is backed now by a fund of over $1,000,000, according to Prof. Joseph Fandrey, 1421 Santee street. His countrymen are now only awaiting the proper opportunity to strike the blow which will free that territory from foreign control, he says.

There are over 500 Polish families in this city, says Professor Fandrey, all of whom contribute to the liberation fund and are learning military tactics so as to be able to fight the nation that accomplished the downfall of their fatherland. Nine societies have been formed, which constitute so many military and political camps, he says.

Chicago is the headquarters of the movement in this country, but the local societies are looked upon as being valuable to the cause because of the liberal contributions and also because of the excellent drills of the young Poles. The Polish newspaper which is published at Chicago gives a great deal of attention to the local societies. The war fund is held in a small city in Austrian Poland.

THE SMUDGELESS SMUDGEPOTS HEATS WITHOUT SMOKE

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Fruit growers are deeply interested in the recent announcement that Col. D. Blaikie Hislop, a veteran of the Boer war, has invented a practically smudgeless smudgepot. Of the invention, Col. Hislop says that the heater will radiate heat from six to ten times as far as the ordinary smudgepots, with the added advantage that there is absolutely no smoke.

Working with Col. Hislop in his invention is T. C. Vermilye, assistant secretary of the Ontario chamber of commerce. A factory site has been purchased and with orders for many thousands of smudgepots in from enthusiastic ranchers who have witnessed demonstrations, the first season of the new firm promises to be a busy one.

The idea involved is the well-known one of cold air forced in a smoldering mass setting it afire with a minimum of smoke. When the burner is lighted, the warm air is forced out through the top and cold air rushes in. A cone of metal, some three feet high, surmounts the pot. This becomes red hot in an incredibly short time and a great amount of heat is radiated.

COMPARISON CLINIC TO BE DENTAL MEET FEATURE

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—Not even during the golden jubilee reunion of dentists of the old Philadelphia Dental College, now a department of Temple University, are teeth to be taboo. One of the features of the alumni gathering opening here today, will be clinics, where the differences between dentistry of the old day and the present will be demonstrated. Alumni from all over the United States are arriving for the festivities, which will include a banquet.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES EXPOSITION BUILDING CONTRACTED

SAN BERNARDINO, April 15.—Walter D. Wagner, San Bernardino county commissioner to the Panama exposition, was in Los Angeles last week, where the contract was awarded for the construction of the southern counties' exposition building at San Diego. The contract went to the John Simpson company of San Diego, and the contract price is $65,252. The building will be erected by the seven southern counties.

TO STOP CAR AT LA VETA

Orange News: The adoption of two resolutions of intention to order work was the chief business transacted at the meeting of the trustees last evening, in addition to the reading of the regular monthly reports, and the annual reports of the clerk and recorder.

A resolution of intention to order sewer on South Glassell street, south of La Veta avenue to the city limits was adopted.

A resolution of intention to order sidewalk and curb on North Glassell street, on the east side between Walnut and Rose avenues, was adopted.

The K. E. Watson Company was authorized to sell alcohol under the terms of Ordinance 95.

The use of the Jern hall was granted to the grammar school for an exhibit.

President Dittmer reported that a representative of the Pacific Electric had been inquiring as to how long the company might use South Glassell street before improvement is started there. Mr. Dittmer said that he explained to the railroad man that sewer and water connections preceding paving must be started at once, and that the board would probably desire the removal of the track in a short time. The railroad man stated that he would take the matter up with the company officials.

Trustee Hagen moved that permission be granted residents on the west side of South Glassell street, between Cuyver and La Veta avenues, to remove large pine trees said to be damaging walks and curbs. Smith seconded, and the motion carried.

An assessment map of the North Glassell street paving was submitted by the city engineer, and adopted by the board.

The street committee was authorized to rent the city's water stock to H. L. Porter for the season for $6 per share.

An application from the recorder for free telephone brought no formal action. It was stated that the city's allotment of free telephones are in use, hence none could be given the recorder.

A discussion of the matter of placing more fire hydrants brought the statement from the water superintendent that hydrants are now placed at all available places where there are four-inch lines or greater.

SECRETARY McADOO REVOKED HIS LATE DEPARTMENT ORDER

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Secretary McAdoo of the treasury department has revoked his previous order by which subordinates were forbidden to give out news except through the secretary's office. The secretary issued the following instructions to his assistants:

"The secretary's memorandum with reference to giving out news was not intended to prevent the publication of routine matters of legitimate interest to the public. Heads of bureaus and chiefs of division may give to representatives of the press any ordinary news, but matter involving views of policy or reforms in the department should be submitted to the secretary for his approval."

THE FOREST SERVICE WILL GIVE ASSISTANCE IN GRAZING EMERGENCY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—Owing to the unusually small amount of precipitation this year in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, feed for stock is very scarce, and unless stockmen secure some relief, it is anticipated there will be a very heavy loss of sheep and cattle. Stockmen of these valleys have begun to look to the higher mountains for summer feed, and since these ranges are within the national forests, the Forest Service is being asked by local stock associations and individuals to accommodate a larger number of stock than they have heretofore allowed to be grazed on the forests. The district forester at San Francisco has made it known that he will assist bona fide residents, who would otherwise suffer heavy loss, in every way consistent with the proper protection of the forests.

HOBOKEN VOTES TODAY ON COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 15.—Fought by the Democratic "machine," Hoboken voters today are balloting upon the commission form of government, as are the men of Jersey City, Bayonne and Union Hill. Petitions calling for the elections were filed some weeks ago, more than the prescribed number of signatures having been secured. There is little contest in Jersey City, except from the Socialists, who declare the plan means more centralization of power. County Judge Robert Carey, who helped draft the enabling act, predicts overwhelming victory for the commission form today in the four cities.

O. F. Heartwell, Wearing Three
Links Since 1857, Passed
Away at 95

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 15.—Oscar Fitzgall Heartwell, aged 95 years, the oldest in membership among the O. O. F. fellows of California and known all over the southern part of the state, died here shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning after an illness of five days, death resulting from weakness after an attack of influenza. Up to last Wednesday he was seen on the streets here in his usual physical condition, remarkable for one of his years.

Mr. Heartwell was born near Geneva, New York, on May 30, 1818, and removed to Nebraska in 1883. He came to California in 1904, directly to this city, where he has resided continuously ever since until his death. He joined the Odd Fellows in 1857 and has held his membership, therefore, fifty-six years. His patriarchal face and wonderfully preserved figure have been a feature at many gatherings of the order in Southern California. His sunny disposition served to make friends of all who knew him.

Mr. Heartwell, whose wife died in 1863, had seven children, thirteen grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. All his children are living except J. B. Heartwell of Long Beach, at one time president of the First National Bank of this city, who died recently. The others are Charles D. Heartwell of this city, C. A. and O. F. Heartwell, who live in Nebraska; Dr. W. B. Heartwell of Auburn, N. Y.; Mrs. M. A. Ogden of Rockland, Idaho, and Miss Eva C. Heartwell of Hastings, Neb. His oldest living son is 68 years of age.

MUNICIPAL MARKET FOR LOS ANGELES

Council Votes For Free Markets
to Open on May 3; Four Curb Markets Planned

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—By a unanimous vote, the city council yesterday adopted an ordinance creating a municipal market department, with a superintendent in charge of all the markets. The superintendent is to be appointed by the mayor, with confirmation by the council, and is to receive a salary of $150 per month. The municipal market days will be Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 o'clock a.m. to 2 o'clock p.m., and on Saturdays from 6 o'clock a.m. to 6 o'clock p.m. The proposed four curb markets will open Saturday, May 3. The ordinance provides that the markets shall be open to use of any person who desires to bring food products, flowers or nursery stock for sale, without charge. The license ordinance was amended so that no persons thus using the public markets shall be compelled to pay a license.

JOHN B. HENDERSON, NATIONAL FIGURE, DIES AT 87 YEARS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—John B. Henderson, former senator from Missouri, passed away at his residence, Boundary castle, Sixteenth street, N. W., at 6:30 Saturday evening. He was 87 years old. Ex-Senator Henderson had a national reputation. He was a native of Virginia. He served as a member of the Missouri legislature more than sixty years ago, was presidential elector for Fremont in 1856 and for Lincoln in 1860, served as United States senator from Missouri from 1862 to 1869, and was the Republican candidate for governor of Missouri in 1872.

MONUMENT FOR MAJ. BUTT TO BE DEDICATED MAY 3

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A monument to Major Archibald Butt, who was military aid to President Roosevelt and Taft, and who was lost when the Titanic sank, a year ago, will be dedicated May 30 in Arlington National Cemetery upon a spot which Major Butt in 1902 selected for his burial place when he was depot quartermaster here and in charge of the cemetery.

The monument will be a twelve-foot granite, Latin cross, and is to be erected by Major Butt's brother.

HICKS AND McGOORTY TRAINED TO FINISH FOR TESTING FIGHT
WINDSOR, Ont., April 16.—When Freddie Hicks, Detroit middleweight, steps into the Windsor Athletic club ring tonight to battle eight rounds with Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh he will be in better condition than any time during his career as a fighter. Hicks has just finished a month of strenuous training and says he is going after McGoorty's scalp. McGoorty gained a decision over Hicks in their only previous meeting in New York last winter.

State "Fire Prevention Day" To Be Observed April 18th Santa Ana's Fire Record of Practically "No Losses" Given National Publicity by Insurance Journal

The following is reproduced from "Rough Notes," an insurance journal published at Indianapolis, and is a splendid illustration of what an enterprising local firm is accomplishing in publicity, not only for themselves but for the city of Santa Ana. "Rough Notes" has a nation-wide circulation.

Startling Staistics That Made An Ad A Piece of News

BY A MEMBER OF THE STAFF.

The agency of O. M. Robbins and Son, Santa Ana, California, sets a remarkable example in advertising in connection with "Fire Prevention Day."

Santa Ana has a fire record of practically "no losses" for the past twenty years. So "Fire Prevention Day" might be considered an outside festival for benighted regions only and ignored—but it isn't.

California observes the day on the eighteenth of April—the anniversary of the San Francisco fire—and on the seventeenth of last April, the Robbins agency used a two-column space in the Santa Ana Daily Register for the advertisement that is reproduced below.

On "Fire Prevention Day" the big ad in the next column was run double column wide.

It was good copy—especially good copy—and it was well set. It got attention because it started out with current news—"Today is"—it held the attention and the climax meant something even to the people of a town that has not suffered from its own fires.

While we are discussing these ads, observe how "Insurance" is linked with the name of O. M. Robbins and Son. This is achieved in all the advertising the agency does. And when the companies offer advertising matter, a request is made that this form be followed.

The influence of these ads got into the editorial page of the paper, where they furnished the material for an editorial on "Fire Waste."

"Fire Protection Day" is a public conservation day. It is set apart by Governors and attention is called to it by Mayors, by Commercial Organizations and by the Newspapers.

The scenes are all set and the right atmosphere is created for effective advertising into which a public spirited agency ought to be able to throw itself with might and main.

"Prevention" and "Service" can be made the theme of ads

EXTENDING WHARF PROJECT IS TALKED

Newport News: It is to be hoped that the new plan for the city to get control of the Southern Pacific wharf and build an extension out to deep water again will go through for the good not only of Newport Beach but for all lovers of fishing in Southern California. For years the Southern Pacific wharf was known as being the best place for ocean fishing in Southern California and the fact brought hundreds of people here that would not have come otherwise. The fishing dropped off immediately when the S. P. took off 144 feet of the wharf and will never be as good again until the wharf is built back out to the deep channel that runs between the end of the wharf and the head buoy. A wharf built or maintained at any other spot on the beach would not produce the same result in the fishing line on account of the fact that the water is extra deep close inshore just at this one spot and nowhere else along the sand-spit, a fact taken advantage of by the Newport & Santa Ana railway when the wharf was built in order to allow big ships to discharge their cargoes on the wharf. The fishing on the wharf is good at times now, but we would welcome back the good old days when it was always good and when the weather permitted the wharf was always crowded with people. We have seen a good crowd fishing on the wharf when the weather was anything but good, but that was on days when the highly prized greenbacks were snapping up bait as soon as it settled in the water.

Game Conservation and Its Great Importance

Granting that our game supply is becoming greatly reduced, and that the methods outlined in a previous article, are best adapted to its conservation, one other point still remains for consideration, namely, the results of conservation. As we are living in an age of commercialism, let us consider the question first from this standpoint.

Large sums of money are spent each year by the sportsmen of California, this amount probably aggregating $15,000,000 last year. In sections where game is abundant this means a decided increase in the revenues of that locality. While the claim may be made by some that the railroads and hotels reap a good share of the profits, the fact remains that they furnish labor for an increased number of men and women, and therefore bring about a more general distribution of money. Again, in most cases, this also means a direct benefit to the farmer, for in the remote districts it is he who usually furnishes the hunters with board and lodging, while their presence at a nearby hotel means an increased demand for farm products.

In localities where there is a constant game supply, and where hunters return year after year, in time this will lead to improved highways, railroads, and telephone facilities, as well as a general upbuilding of those country districts. It can be readily seen, therefore, that game conservation may be decidedly worth while from the commercial standpoint alone. On the other hand, can we afford to overlook entirely the esthetic side of the question? Consider for one moment what our marshes, meadows, and mountains would be like if entirely devoid of that will ring with such sincerity and conviction that the reader will turn the searchlight on his own condition—will prevent and protect by care and insurance.

$250,000,000.00 Every Year
$720,000.00 Every Day
$30,000.00 Every Hour
$500.00 Every Minute

The Cause—

Carelessness—with matches, gasoline, oily rags, trash, and other inflammable material. Poor building construction. Poor fire protection. Poorly enforced ordinances.

The Effect—

A steady and enormous drain on the country's wealth. Higher rates for fire insurance. Increased expense of loss settlements.

The Remedy—

Good building construction, good fire protection, and well enforced ordinances. Care in using matches, and in handling and storing gasoline, and all inflammable materials. Responsibility for fires investigated, and carelessness punished by law.

SAN FRANCISCO TO JOY AT LAUNCHING

Will Celebrate Twin Launching of Submarines; 'Frisco High
In Ship-building Annals

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—When the submarines H1 and H2 leave the ways at the Union Iron Works early next month, it will be the first double launching this city has ever witnessed. The vessels are 95 per cent completed today, and now await only the "finixing." Three more submarines are under construction and when they are completed, San Francisco's contribution to the "mosquito fleet" will have been a notable one.

It is planned to make the twin launching a big event. The program will be announced in a few days. San Francisco figures high in the number of battle ships she has turned out from her shipbuilding plants, and which have subsequently made history. Twenty-five years ago the Charleston was launched here. She was lost off the coast of Luzon during the Spanish-American war. The battleship Oregon was built here and the Olympia. Admiral Dewey's flagship at the battle of Manila bay, took her first dip in the waters inside the Golden Gate. The California and Ohio, the latter launched in the presence of President William McKinley, were also of San Francisco build.

PART III.

The question may now be asked, where is the place for local history? Will not the study of general history do all that has been mentioned above? and is not the study of the history of one's own state or locality superfluous? What additional gains can be made through thus narrowing the field to be studied?

We have intimated that history is made up of men and their actions. In the study of history we study the biographies of men, and the principles underlying their actions whether singly or in mass. Local history, no less than the history of a larger unit, is composed of the lives of men who act as separate units or collectively. There is no reason why the same principles may not be derived from studying the lives of men who have built up any particular state of the American Union, say California, as from studying the lives of men famous in the general history of the United States, or of Europe, or of Asia. A study of such men would possess the added interest, that they would often be men who, if not known personally to the pupils, have relatives or descendants whom the pupils already know. To be sure the history of one state may not contain the record of so great events as would the history of the nation, but there are more than a few of the states which possess a thrilling history. Furthermore, history is not necessarily the record of wars, but the annals of peace have their part, and an increasing part it is. There would seem to be no reason why the early history of California, with its period of discovery, its missions, its rivalry of the nations, its settlement, its development, its part in the war with Mexico, its heyday period of the gold mines, its later agricultural development, its part in the Civil War, its commercial opportunities, its educational problems, its governmental questions, its resources, and its climate might not be as instructive, as inspiring, as conducive to good citizenship as the history of the Union, which begins, in the traditional text-book, with the history of the Atlantic seaboard, and for the greater portion of the treatment has for its center of interest, the East.

California has her heroes; her history is replete with instructive events; her period of colonization is as instructive as that of any other portion of the globe; her contribution to educational administration has been as valuable, perhaps, as that of any other portion of the Union; and it would seem that the leading principles of morality might be well taught from a careful study of her history. The study of local history has the additional value that it contemplates a small civil unit where the effect of a citizen's acts are felt at once. It tends to give a love of local self-government. It gives a knowledge of local institutions. If America is unique among the nations of the world it would seem that perhaps the spirit of local self government is row; on the other, against a patriotism which is so broad as to include the whole and so thin as to be an innate feeling which is worthless as a motivating power to purposive and useful action.

In the opinion of the writer, the course should consist of three distinct sections. First there should be a course in general history to give breadth of view. This may well begin with Greek, Roman, Egyptian, Chinese, or Jewish; anything in which the young citizen will be interested. I believe that it is easier to interest him when young in tales of lands far distant than in his next door neighbor. The lives of the ancients are just as interesting as of the moderns. The same principles may be pointed out. There is the same opportunity for calling attention to bribery, graft, ambition, in Rome, as in the history of San Francisco. There is the same opportunity to teach patriotism through the study of the life of Alexander the Great or of Leonidas as in the life of Sutter. This history of the world in general should seek to make of the youth a citizen of the world. He should have a broad viewpoint. The aim of history is a broad culture and the widening of the horizon.

The second stage in the training of the young citizen should include the study of American history. There should be inculcated in him the love of country for what the country stands, for what it has done, and for what it promises to do in the future toward making the world better. He should understand the institutions with which he must work. This can best be gained by a study of the history of these institutions, including the story of their ancestry, their development, and their effects on the people with whom they come in contact. However much we need men of broad vision and sympathies, we still need men who have in addition a warm love of the native land; men who are willing to sacrifice for it. "State citizens cannot be replaced by world citizens."

The third step in the young citizen's training should consist of a study of local history. He should have a knowledge of the men who have made the state what it is today. He should know the history of the institutions of his state. Everything that has been said in favor of a knowledge of the history of the institutions of the federal government applies with even stronger force to those of the state, for where he comes in contact once with the institutions of the national government he meets those of the state a dozen times. It is the state, county, and municipal governments, with which he deals daily. By all means these should be explained to him, and he should be made familiar with their meaning, as shown in history. It is recognized that in all this there is a possibility of a tendency towards sectionalism, states rights, and the failure to grasp the importance of a world point of view. In reply to these objections it can only be said that after all is said and done, the determining factor in the history course is the teacher. Whereas the wrong sort can make of state history a deadening thing, he will do the same with American history or with general history. The right sort of teacher will take any history and make of it a live thing. If he can broaden the viewpoint of the pupil by the study of the history of the world, he can do the same through the study of the history of the state.

In conclusion:—We want the boy to have a definite knowledge of and love for the institutions of his state. To gain these, he must study the history of his state. This should preferably come after the broad view point has been attained. The series should therefore be: First, a study of the world history; second, history of the United States of America; third, history of California. The whole course should be liberalized by means of a liberal minded teacher. This series should be given if possible in the grades. In accordance with the spiral structure of a course of study, it may be given in the intensive form in the secondary school. But in it all and through it all must be kept in mind that the boy (or girl) is a citizen at the same time of California, of the United States, and of the world. Because of this a narrow patriotism is impossible. The purest and broadest type of patriotism alone will suffice.

To raise the flag over every school house; to celebrate the glorious Fourth with guns and banners; to march in procession to the sound of martial music, as a lesson of patriotism, is well enough, and not to be despised. But this is not all. There must be a loftier conception than this as the basis of study. Minnesota may push to the front her wheat; Nebraska, her tasseled corn; Louisiana, her sugar; Colorado, her silver; the South, her cotton; and New England, her manufactures; but beyond them all, and over them all, is the Union. And so, beyond the Union, there is a commonwealth of mankind, a community of enlightened men on whose sympathy and co-operation the world's prosperity largely depends—a prosperity in which we share, and without which our own advancement would be enfeebled. It is to such a goal that all civilization and all true patriotism tends; and progress will be along the lines, dimly traced above, by which the race has advanced from the patriarch to the prince—the uncrowned princes—of a free republic.

THINKS 16 FEET WIDE ENOUGH
Redlands Facts: Orange county, in the building of her good roads, will give them a base of five inches of crushed rock, with a one inch top dressing. The main roads will be twenty feet wide, laterals sixteen feet. It would seem as though the county might well make her roads narrower and build more miles of them. Sixteen feet is ample width for any country road.

Coughs and Consumption
Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living today. Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all druggists.—Advertisement."

The soil, water, irrigation and products are not the only good things at Yucaipa. Valuable and important as they are, the social life of the new community is a real factor. Just now the valley folk are busy incorporating their Growers' Association, so helpful and useful. The ladies are getting ready to do their part at the annual fair and bazaar in connection with the big apple show to be held in the valley in the early autumn. The annual May Day picnic, held in the beautiful natural park in Wildwood Canyon, promises to be of unusual interest. Here all the valley folk will assemble for a great day of pleasure. The women's club does much for the social life of the valley. With the Aid societies, Athletic club, churches, schools, and library, Yucaipa has about all the social advantages of any community. But the delightful country and village life in Yucaipa has an element in it that is especially attractive, born doubtless of the spirit and good fellowship of the new community, the freedom of the country, the elevation and beauty of the valley and the bright anticipation of prosperity. The soil, the water, the products, the people, are all of the best. Go up with us to see. One day trips every week.

How the Democrats Would Raise National Revenues

FEATURES OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL

Chairman Underwood's Explanation of Measure.

REVENUE THE MAIN THING.

Free List Is Largely Increased, Meat, Bread, Sugar, Flour, Salt and Fish Being Added, With Reduction on Butter and Eggs—Sugar to Go on Free List After Three Years—Few Changes in Luxuries, and Such Changes as Are Made Increase Duties—Incomes of More Than $4,000 to Be Taxed.

Here is the explanation of the new tariff bill as prepared by Chairman Underwood of the house ways and means committee, which framed the measure:

The present condition of the revenue legislation of the United States is the result of years of adherence to the protective tariff policy. This theory is the result of circumstances and in no way can be said to be the choice of the people. At the beginning of the civil war the United States found itself with little other taxation than that of a low revenue tariff. The unfortunate political situation of the war times permitted interested persons to increase and continue high protective duties, and this system of high protection has been maintained to the present time, except from 1894 to 1897, when the Wilson tariff was in effect.

1909 Revision.

The enactment of a tariff revision measure in 1909 was unavoidable politically even from the viewpoint of high protectionists. The country demanded of the then dominant political party a modification of the extreme tariff policy with which the country was afflicted, but the expectation of redress through the act of 1909 was blasted, for that measure not only failed to give the desired relief, but made many conditions even worse. The rates of duty on some commodities were even advanced, due largely to reclassifications by which the real duties were concealed. It is only natural, therefore, that the deception imposed on the people through the failure of the law of 1909 to give needed relief has become more and more irritating to the people as the years have passed by. This was evidenced by the political results of the election of 1910, by which the Democratic party secured control of the house of representatives. Following this a series of tariff bills were passed at the first session of the Sixty-second congress during the summer of 1911, which were passed by congress and presented to President Taft, only to be vetoed by him.

Impatient to obey the mandates of the people, congress during the winter and spring of 1912 repassed these with other tariff revision measures, but the fate was the same as at the former session, in that they met the prompt veto of the executive. Then came the election of 1912, which gave the Democratic party a sweeping victory at the polls and turned over to them the machinery necessary to effect tariff legislation and placed upon them the responsibility of revising the tariff downward in accordance with the urgent and repeated demands of the public. The committee has given very careful consideration during the last two years to the economic conditions throughout this and other countries, has studied every phase of the tariff as related to our economic conditions, and the bill which it now presents to the house is its interpretation of the responsibilities placed upon it by the people in the matter of revising the present tariff duties and also its views of a tariff revised to a basis of legitimate competition, such as will afford a wholesome influence on our commerce, bring relief to the people in the matter of the high cost of living and at the same time work no detriment to properly conducted manufacturing industries.

Theory of a Competitive Tariff.

The dividing line between the positions of the two great parties on this question is very clear and easily ascertained in theory. Where the tariff rates balance the difference in cost of production at home and abroad, including an allowance for the difference in freight rates, the tariff must be competitive, and from that point downward to the lowest tariff that can be levied will continue to be competitive to a greater or less extent. Where competition is not interfered with by levying the tax above the highest competitive point the profits of the manufacturer are not protected. On the other hand, when the duties levied at the custom house are high enough to allow the American manufacturer to make a profit before his competitor can enter the field, we have invaded the domain of the protection of profits. In the committee's judgment the protection of any profit must of necessity have a tendency to destroy competition and create monopoly, whether the profit protected is reasonable or unreasonable.

Which course is the wiser one for our government to take? The one that demands the protection of profits, the continued policy of hothouse growth for our industries, the stagnation of development that follows where competition ceases, or, on the other hand, the gradual reduction of our tariff to a basis where the American manufacturer must meet honest competition; where he must develop his business along the best and most economic lines; where, when he fights at home to control his market, he is forging the way in the economic development of his business to extend his trade in the markets of the world. The future growth of our great industries lies beyond the seas.

Necessities and Luxuries of Life.

In its tariff revision work the committee has kept in mind the distinction between the necessities and the luxuries of life, reducing the tariff burdens on the necessities to the lowest possible points commensurate with revenue requirements and making the luxuries of life bear their proper portion of the tariff responsibilities.

Revision Explained.

The committee has in the main followed the policy set forth in the revision bills reported at the Sixty-second congress. A brief discussion of some of the changes will suffice to furnish a general clew to the character of the new tariff measure.

Chemical Schedule.

As representing the chemical schedule the rates on certain commodities show heavy reductions. For instance, boric acid is cut from 75.70 per cent to 21.43 per cent, glue from 35.06 per cent to 14.29 per cent and red lead from 60.35 per cent to 25 per cent. Moderate reductions have been made on medicinal preparations, which are cut from 25 per cent to 15 per cent, blacking from 25 per cent to 15 per cent, drugs from 12.55 per cent to 10 per cent and olive oil from 35.18 per cent to 21.05 per cent. The schedule contains a number of articles on which either no reduction has been made or an advance provided for. In each case the effort has been to consider not only the character of the article, whether a necessity, a comfort or a luxury, but also the amount of its probable importation and its relation to the revenue yielding power of the schedule. In every case the action taken has thus been the result of complex factors, the prime motive being that of granting to the public as much relief as was practicable, while at the same time conserving the income of the government to the necessary extent.

Earthen and Glassware.

Rates on all brick have been cut on the average from 30.23 per cent to 10.28 per cent, tile from 47.84 per cent to 23.24 per cent, asphalt from 37.05 per cent to 9.02 per cent. Ordinary earthenware, which was already relatively low, being subject to an average duty of 24.67 per cent, has now been cut to 15 per cent, while window glass has been given an average reduction on all glasses of from 46.38 per cent to 23.31 per cent. On the other hand plate glass, still retains a duty of nearly 40 per cent, the average of paragraph 94 being 38.45 per cent in place of the duty of 63.95 per cent in the law.

Metals.

Pig iron and slabs, which were 16.35 per cent and 17.79 per cent have been cut to 8 per cent in each case, beams from 23.0 per cent to 12 per cent and forgings from 30 per cent to 15 per cent. On the other hand, bicycles, a much more highly manufactured product, are dutiable at 25 per cent, as against 45 per cent, and razors at 35 per cent, as against 76.68 per cent. Many items of manufacture controlled by monopolies have been placed on the free list.

Lumber.

The idea of the large extension of the free list for the unmanufactured products has been the fundamental conception, while the effort has been made to improve the status of the manufactured lumber. This saved boards other than cabinet wood have been carried to the free list, while saved cabinet boards, which were 12.75 per cent in 1912, are now 10 per cent; casks, barrels, etc., which were 30 per cent, are now 14.77 per cent, and house furniture, which was 35 per cent, is now 15 per cent.

Sugar.

The action of the committee with regard to sugar is interesting and shows an appreciation of the commercial conditions involved and the committee's desire to respond to the public demands for free sugar. The plan as provided in the bill is to reduce with its passage the present sugar rates by 25 per cent, with the further provision that three years from the date of the enactment of the bill sugar goes on the free list.

Tobacco and Spirits.

The schedules containing these products have been found to be good producers of revenue, are sufficiently adjusted to the internal revenue duties of the United States, deal entirely with articles not to be classed as necessities and have therefore been left at the same rates as in the present law.

Agricultural Products.

In the effort to relieve the consumer and to mitigate the high and rising cost of living Schedule G, which deals with agricultural products, has been thoroughly revised and important reductions have been made. For instance, the duty on horses has been reduced from 25 per cent to 10 per cent, cattle from 25.07 per cent to 10 per cent, sheep from 16.41 per cent to 10 per cent, barley from 43.05 per cent to 23.07 per cent, macaroni from 34.25 per cent to 23.81 per cent, hay from 43.21 per cent to 26.67 per cent, fruits from 27.21 per cent to 15.38 per cent, figs from 51.53 per cent to 42.10 per cent, lemons from 68.85 per cent to 24.03 per cent, live poultry from 13.10 per cent to 6.67 per cent and vinegar from 33.03 per cent to 17.39 per cent. Other changes are in proportion, and the general effect has been to reduce in a very material proportion the heavy taxes upon imported foodstuffs.

Cotton Goods.

During the last few years a large part of the discussion of the tariff has borne upon the textile schedules, which it has been felt, were unduly high. Particular attention has therefore been paid to the revision of these schedules in the effort to adjust them more equitably both to the needs of the consumer and to the condition of the manufacturing industry in the United States. In Schedule I, dealing with cotton, comparisons of the principal items show reductions on cotton thread from 31.54 per cent to 19.29 per cent, on spool thread from 22.95 per cent to 15 per cent, on cotton cloth from 42.74 per cent to 26.69 per cent, on waterproof cloth from 50.56 per cent to 25 per cent, on ready made clothing from 50 per cent to 30 per cent, on collars and cuffs from 64.63 per cent to 25 per cent, on plushes from 51.40 per cent to 40 per cent, on handkerchiefs from 59.27 per cent to 30 per cent, on stockings from 75.38 per cent to 50 per cent, on gloves from 30.17 per cent to 35 per cent, on underwear from 60.27 per cent to 25 per cent and on cotton damask from 40 per cent to 25 per cent.

Linen.

Schedule J, dealing with flax, hemp and their products, has been similarly dealt with. Raw flax and raw hemp have been reduced from $22.40 and $22.50 per ton respectively to $11.20 each, jute yarns have been cut from 26.90 per cent to 15 per cent, cables and cordage from 6.43 per cent to 4.55 per cent, oilcloths for floors from 44.29 per cent to 15 per cent, handkerchiefs from 50 per cent to 35 per cent.

Wool.

Schedule K, dealing with wools and woolen manufactures, has been the center of criticism for many years, and the committee has given it very careful study. The result has been to make raw wool free of duty, to reduce yarns from 79.34 per cent to 20 per cent, blankets from 72.69 per cent to 25 per cent, flannels from 93.29 per cent to 25 and 35 per cent, dress goods from 99.70 per cent to 35 per cent, clothing from 79.56 per cent to 35 per cent, webbing, etc., from 82.7 per cent to 35 per cent, and carpets from rates ranging from 60 per cent to 82 per cent to rates ranging from 20 per cent to 35 per cent.

Silk.

In Schedule L, relating to silk and silk goods, it has been sought to convert the schedule previously almost wholly specific in an ad valorem basis, thereby placing it upon an equality of treatment with the other schedules allied to it and eliminating the possibility of concealed protection. Inasmuch, however, as silk and silk goods are distinctly to be classed as luxuries, it has been deemed wise to make only very moderate reductions in the rates of duty. Partially manufactured goods have been cut from 21.01 per cent to 15 per cent, spun silk yarn from 37.69 per cent to 35 per cent, sewing silk from 35 per cent to 15 per cent, silk goods from 52.58 per cent to 50 per cent, silk handkerchiefs (plain) from 50 per cent to 40 per cent, ribbons from 50 per cent to 40 per cent, artificial silk yarns from 41.79 per cent to 35 per cent, and braids, embroideries and the like of artificial silk from 68.49 per cent to 60 per cent.

Paper and Books.

Schedule M, which deals with paper, books and allied articles, has been subjected to the general operation of the same principles that apply throughout the tariff. Print paper, whose cost of production is as low in this country under favorable conditions as it is anywhere in the world, has been transferred to the free list when worth less than 2½ cents per pound, while the higher grades have been given a tariff of 12 per cent in place of 15.80 per cent. Copying paper has been cut from 42.32 per cent to 30 per cent, bag envelopes, etc., from 49.92 per cent to 35 per cent, parchment papers from 47.02 per cent to 35 per cent, in photographic paper from 28.90 per cent to 25 per cent, writing paper from 45.13 per cent to 25 per cent, common wrapping paper from 35 per cent to 25 per cent and books from 25 per cent to 15 per cent.

Sundries.

Schedule N, which deals with a variety of sundries, calls for comparatively little comment, except to say that the general principles of tariff reduction have been applied to each of the items carried in the schedule according to the peculiarities of each. Thus, trimmed hats are given only a moderate reduction, being cut from 50 per cent to 4 per cent, while brooms are substantially reduced, being cut from 40 per cent to 15 per cent. Jewelry has been but slightly reduced, falling from 75.74 per cent to 60 per cent. A good illustration of the attitude adopted with respect to the application of the tariff is seen in the item, precious stones, uncut, which are given a rate of 10 per cent, notwithstanding they were on the free list under the act of 1909.

Changes in Classification.

Few changes have been made in classification. Ad valorem rates, however, have been substituted for specific rates and for the complicated and cumbersome compound rates of the Payne law. This is particularly true of the textile schedules—cotton, flax, silk and wool—in which the present classifications depend upon various conditions, such as the count of the thread, the condition of the yarns, the weight and value of the fabric.

The classifications by values of articles has been eliminated as far as possible. It was found necessary in a few instances, in order to place a low rate of duty on a common or cheap article of ordinary use, to make the classification dependent upon the value and place a higher rate upon the more expensive article of the same character and description. This is true in the paragraphs providing for gloves and gelatins, that providing for pocket-knives, blankets and for jewelry.

Customs Administrative Changes.

The customs administrative situation has long been unsatisfactory under existing enactments and is regarded as being of primary importance, for the reason that rates of duty in themselves are not conclusive until they have been interpreted and applied to actual importations through classification and appraisement. The tariff act of 1909 made considerable changes in the previously existing system of administration and abrogated a number of useful modifications which had been introduced into previous practice as a result of the commercial agreements negotiated during the second Roosevelt administration. It, however, failed to substitute a more satisfactory system of classification and appraisement, and defective methods have continued to prevail ever since. How bad the situation has been is indicated by the recognition of enormous customs frauds in the federal service, these being corrected only after a lengthy delay, in which tardy reparation was made to the government for what it had lost. That these frauds extended almost throughout the whole range of trades is a startling fact, to which witness has been borne not only by the secretary of the treasury, but by many others whose official duties gave them knowledge of the situation. Two commissions appointed under the last administration to examine into customs administration conditions have detected great evils and have made extensive recommendations for improvement, none of which, however, has been carried out, except the removal of two members of the board of appraisers at New York city.

That it is necessary to take steps to strengthen the administrative features of the customs laws has been recognized by the treasury department, and two commissions have already been appointed and have made reports in this connection. The president of the United States appointed a committee to inquire into the practice of procedure and the administrative methods of boards of general appraisers. The secretary of the treasury appointed an appraisement commission "to investigate and report on both the principles and practices of the appraising work of the government."

The reports of both of these commissions were before the ways and means committee and were given careful study. The provisions recommended follow in a large measure the changes suggested in one or the other of the reports referred to. These reports were made by officials of the government charged with the collection of the customs and represent the views of persons of experience. To their conclusions we have given much weight.

Maximum and Minimum.

Paragraph A of this section takes the place of section 2 of the Payne bill, which provides for a minimum and maximum tariff for the United States. Section 2 is repealed, and Paragraph A reads as follows:

That for the purpose of readjusting the present duties on importations into the United States and at the same time to encourage the export trade of this country the president of the United States is authorized and empowered to negotiate trade agreements with foreign nations wherein mutual concessions are made looking toward free trade relations and further reciprocal expansion of trade and commerce, provided, however, that said trade agreements, before becoming operative, shall be submitted to the congress of the United States for ratification or rejection.

The minimum and maximum tariff provisions adopted in the Payne bill have not been productive of any effective expansion of our foreign trade and commerce. The conventional tariff being the minimum rate, and the president being authorized to enforce the maximum rate against foreign nations resulted in an attempt to expand our commerce by force. We went to the nations of the world with the demand that they stand and deliver, or we would punish them. Many years ago this system of expanding trade and commerce was abandoned by the enlightened nations. The only true course that can be pursued to expand our foreign trade along rational lines is through mutual concessions that may prove beneficial to both of the contracting parties, free from coercion.

Under the proposed substitute the president of the United States is authorized to enter into these trade agreements without limitation on his authority to do so, except that such agreements as he enters into must be ratified by the congress before they shall become effective.

This legislation is new and somewhat along the same line as the reciprocity treaties that were authorized under the Dingley tariff law, the difference being that the reciprocity treaties were required to be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the United States senate, whereas the trade agreements now provided for will only require a majority vote of both houses. As the senate is not directly representative of the majority of the people of the United States it is deemed more in accord with the progressive tendencies of our people that such agreements should be ratified as far as possible by the representatives of a majority of the American people.

The Sugar Schedule.

Here is the sugar schedule in the new bill:

"Sugars, tank bottoms, sirups of cane juice, melada, concentrated melada, concrete and concentrated molasses, testing by the polariscope not above 75 degrees, 75-100ths of 1 cent a pound, and for every additional degree shown by the polariscope test, 26-100ths of 1 cent per pound additional, and fruc-tions of a degree in proportion; molasses testing not above 40 degrees, 15 per cent ad valorem; testing above 40 degrees and not above 56 degrees, 2½ cents per gallon; testing above 56 degrees, 4½ cents per gallon; sugar drainings and sugar sweepings shall be subject to duty as molasses or sugar, as the case may be, according to the polariscope test, provided that three years after the day when this act shall take effect the articles heretofore enumerated in this paragraph shall thereafter be admitted free of duty."

Maple sugar, maple sirup and refined sirups are taxed at 3 cents per pound, glucose or grape sugar at 1½ cents a pound and sugar cane in its natural state or unmanufactured at 15 per cent ad valorem. At the end of three years the articles in this paragraph also shall be admitted duty free.

A duty of 65 cents per pound is provided for saccharin. Sugar candy and all confectionery valued at 15 cents per pound or less have a duty of 2 cents per pound, and valued at more than 15 cents per pound the duty is 25 per cent ad valorem.

The Metal Schedule.

"Always Air"

ALWAYS AIR is a fluid compound, a small quantity of which, when placed in the inner tube of a pneumatic tire will instantly, automatically and permanently stop all punctures from the smallest to the size of a 20-penny spike.

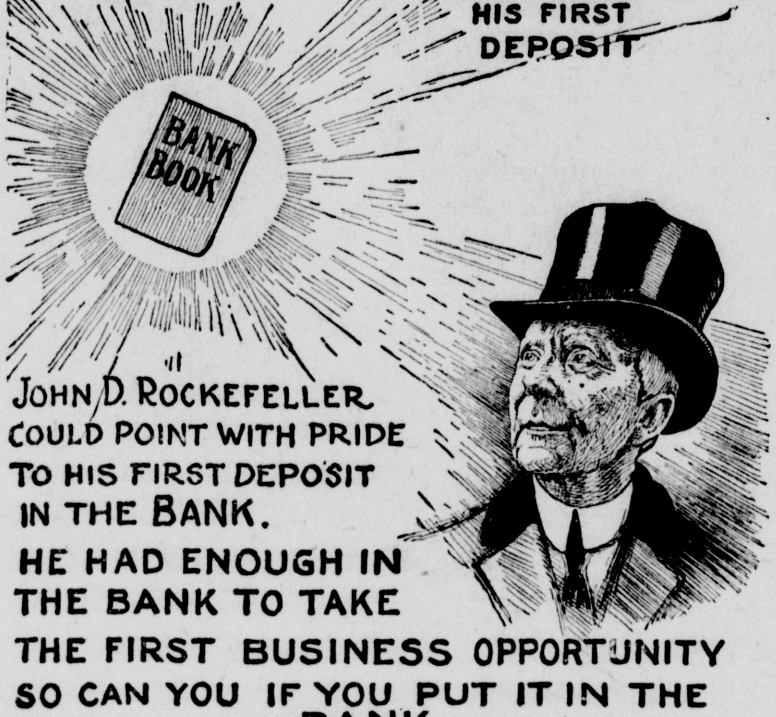

IT IS NOT A TIRE FILLER

It is not only inexpensive but adds 50 per cent. to the service of tires. It will not injure rubber. It is not affected in its operation by heat or cold. It will not harden, gum, dry up or deteriorate. It will not stick the inner tube to the casing. It cannot come into contact with the casing. It can be changed from one tube to another. It will last for years. It adds practically no weight to the tire (only about three pounds to the largest tire.) It fills only a small portion of the inner tube, and the pneumatic quality of the tire is retained.

After picking up a nail in the road, you will always run on a flat tire. This shortens the life of the casing at least 50 per cent, sometimes ruins it immediately. After having tires treated with our fluid you may remove nails at once or never remove them, and in either case there is no leakage of air.
